Supporting Visiting Scholars and Relocating Professors

Obstacles for Visiting Scholars and Relocating Professors

Universities often welcome professors from other provinces or even countries. Logistics in these cases can be challenging, but ensuring that accommodation needs are fulfilled does not have to be.

- Visiting scholars stay from 3 weeks up to 5 months in the city and normally look for accommodation close to the university they are visiting.
- Universities administrators are not always aware that there are other accommodation options aside from traditional hotel for long-term visiting scholars, therefore do not offer them to their professors.
- Visiting scholars look for accommodation with the possibility of having family over.
- Securing housing arrangements for visiting scholars can quickly become a time consuming & frustrating task.
